If you male chauvinists out there think the women's libbers are simply laughable, then hear this:

The voters in Oklahoma City have elected a woman as mayor. The lawyers in Arlington, Va., have elected a woman as president of the bar.

The Federal Aviation Agency has appointed a woman as chief of the airport control tower in Cleveland.

The Treasury Department has graduated its first women air marshals to protect airliners against skyjackings.

Three girls have won permission to enter the Soap Box Derby in Fayetteville.

Will And Harold

If you like good, sexy reading, two British drama experts advise, just dip into William Shakespeare. The Bard, as one of them puts it, "dripped sex at every pore." And, of course, that's the absolute truth, as anyone knows who's ever followed the escapades of Mercutio and Sir John Falstaff.

What differentiates Shakespeare as an author, then, from sex merchants like Harold Robbins and Jacqueline Susann? Well, for one thing, the Bard's capacity for subtlety and the veiled reference. But, most of all, his plain old literary genius. The day that Robbins can write lines like "All our yesterdays have lighted fools the way to dusty death"—that's the day we'll grant him the same license we grant Will Shakespeare.—Dallas (Tex.) Election Law Change Helps Thieu

By RICHARD PYLE

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The lower house of South Vietnam's National Assembly gave final legislative approval today to an election law that is considered a major boost to President Nguyen Van Thieu's candidacy for re-election in October.

The house restored a key provision, knocked out by the Senate, which requires a candidate for the presidency to present a petition of endorsement signed by 40 assembly members or by 100 members of provincial or municipal councils. Thieu sponsored the provision, and some of his critics attacked it as a device to keep other candidates out of the race.

At one point in the debate, an anti-Thieu deputy, Nguyen Dac Dan, brandished a hand grenade and threatened to set it off unless an open vote instead of a secret ballot was held on the controversial provision. After more than three hours of confusion, he won his point and surrendered the grenade.

The bill, which lays down conditions for the legislative elections in August as well as the Oct. 3 presidential election, was approved by a 101-21 standing vote. The South Vietnamese constitution does not require that the measure be sent back to the Senate, and the bill now goes to Thieu within three days. It becomes law in 30 days unless he amends it, and the votes of more than half the members of both houses sitting together would be required to override a presidential amendment.

Atlantic Talk May Settle Berlin Issue

LISBON (AP) — Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty organization claimed today that East-West talks for a Berlin settlement are making progress.

They held out hopes that new talks on a European security conference will begin with the Communist powers when a full agreement on Berlin has been signed sealed and delivered.

The development came at the opening session of NATO's foreign ministers' council, which heard a report on the Big Four negotiations over Berlin from Maurice Schumann of France.

The two-day NATO meeting began after saboteurs bombed Lisbon's central post office and blasted communications at three of four other points in the suburbs of the capital.

The downtown blast cut Portugal from communication with the outside world for several hours. The explosions were believed to be the work of leftist urban guerrillas who oppose the government's war in Africa.

Schumann told the council that Soviet leaders advised him in Moscow recently that the Soviet Union is ready to accept responsibility for Western access to Berlin. The East Germans would manage the access routes but in the case of dispute Moscow would be ready to join with the West in settling any problems.

In the council debate Walter Scheel of West Germany said the latest Soviet proposal for reducing troops in Europe was vague. He said he suspected Moscow is trying to sidestep allied preconditions for a Berlin settlement. His government favors exploring Soviet intentions through regular diplomatic channels.

Premier Marcello Castano of Portugal opened the minister's semiannual meeting, first to be held in Portugal.

With demands growing in the United States for withdrawal of American troops from Europe, Secretary of State William P. Rogers was reported planning to press the allies to agree on early negotiations with the Russians in search of a program of balanced troop reductions by the NATO and Warsaw Pact forces.

The Art of Commuting Is The Business of Learning to Wait

By BOB HARING

Associated Press Writer

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Time is relative. Maybe Einstein said that. Or maybe it was a fellow on the bus yesterday.

At any rate, it has the ring of essential truth that comes from hours of solitary thought by a theoretical genius or from years of commuting.

It really doesn't matter what time you're on so long as it agrees with those you have to deal with.

The best clock in the world won't help a commuter if it doesn't agree with the one his bus or train happens to be running on that day.

That explains why commuters spend so much time waiting. So they don't be late, they're early. And wait. Waiting isn't too bad on a warm spring morning when the trees are blooming and the birds are singing. It is one of life's lesser joys on a January snow or March rain. Or any season in a railroad station, given the state of the art of railroad station design these days. Actually, it isn't design of these days—railroad stations all seem to have been built in the late 1800s and to have been pushed steadily downward since. Something to do with the great American death wish displayed by the nation's railroads.

For practical purposes, there really is no such thing as the "right" time. What's right for me may make you miss a plane. Or lose a business deal. Or stand up a lovely lady.

Oh, somewhere there probably is a timing device—clock would be too ordinary a word—which keeps some specific trace of the microseconds in relation to the standings of the stars. But even so the division into seconds, minutes and hours is an artificial thing. And the guy who runs that perfect timer probably keeps his watch set by the clock at home, so he won't be late for dinner.

It is custom, really, which decrees that a minute is 60 seconds. Or that lunch is at noon—or for that matter that noon is at 12 o'clock.

And customs aren't the same around the world and are subject to change. The Spanish, for instance, consider lunch from 2 to 4 in the afternoon and try that change on your boss sometime.

But since time is relative—a regular but arbitrary division of space into bits definable by words—it's interesting to speculate about some of the changes that might be made.

Why not an eight-hour span, instead of 12 or 16?

Who says a day must be 24 hours long? Why not vary the length of days, so that summer ones are longer and winter ones shorter?

And it might be interesting to leave for work at 12 o'clock and get home at 2 o'clock.

Come to think of it, that's a relatively good idea any time.

Hoffa Will Quit as Head of Teamsters

By NEIL GILBRIDE

AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa has sent word from his prison cell that he will finally relinquish his 14-year reign over the giant labor union, informed sources said today.

The tough, 58-year-old Hoffa, whose stormy career as chief of the 2-million member union ended in prison four years ago, reportedly endorsed the union's general vice president, Frank E. Fitzsimmons, to succeed him.

Hoffa, serving 13 years for jury tampering and mail fraud in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary, had exhausted innumerable legal avenues in a fruitless effort to win his freedom in time to run for re-election next month before finally giving in and agreeing to step aside.

High Union sources had speculated for months that the government would not release him until he agreed to step down from the presidency of the union that wields powerful control in the nation's trucking industry.

It was not immediately clear whether Hoffa agreed to resign before the Teamsters convention opening in Miami Beach July 5, thus making Fitzsimmons union president immediately, or whether Hoffa will hold office until the new election.

Either way, Fitzsimmons—handpicked by Hoffa as his stand-in at the last convention five years ago shortly before Hoffa went to prison—is regarded a cinch for endorsement by the dozen other Teamsters vice presidents.

there are more," said Mrs. Barbara Dobas of Casper, Wyo., a member of National Audubon Society.

Mrs. Dobas told a Senate subcommittee Thursday bad weather forced searchers to abandon efforts last weekend to comb pine-studded canyons where ranchers are suspected of carrying out private predator control programs.

William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, said Thursday 65 lbs. of deadly thallium sulfate sold to ranchers was believed responsible for the deaths of bald and golden eagles in Jackson Canyon near Casper.

"It's conceivable another Jackson Canyon may be discovered," said Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., who added that Wyoming's eagle population may be further endangered by hunters killing for feathers.

"I know one of the gimmicks out West is to con tourists to come West to buy eagle feathers," he said.

In two Wyoming counties, he said, he heard of reports of poachers conducting "night missions—hunting eagles with spotlights to supply tourists with feathers."

Mrs. Dobas said eagles in Wyoming are in great danger.

"We speculate the bald eagles and golden eagles are endangered, perhaps more so in Wyoming than the rest of the nation," she said.

An eagle population must be consisted of at least 22 per cent immature birds, she said. But in Wyoming, young birds comprise a much lower percentage of the native flocks.

$53,000 Swindle at Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) —

Texarkana police said that two McCrory (Woodruff County) farmers were apparently swindled of $53,000 Wednesday.

Asst. Chief of Police John Butler said, "We're not sure just what happened, but we think it was some sort of a business swindle."

Butler said two unidentified men took the money from the farmers, who were not identified, in a motel room in Texarkana.

He said the two McCrory men had told conflicting stories on what happened and officers were investigating the possibility of the two men being drugged.

Butler said an investigation was continuing.

180 Wiretaps in Arkansas

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report by the administrative office of the U. S. Courts reveals that federal authorities overheard 180 conversations in Arkansas in 1970.

The eavesdropping was conducted by the use of wiretaps and hidden microphones with approval of federal courts, the report said.

No wiretapping or bugging was reported by state or local authorities.

Expect More Bodies to Be Found

YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP) — Sheriff Roy D. Whiteaker says he is convinced more slain transients and farm workers lie buried in concealed graves in orchards north of Yuba City.

Officers plan to dig today for more bodies in a site that had been flooded for several days. Warm, dry weather the past few days has made the site accessible again.

So far, 23 transients, farm workers and drifters have been found hacked and stabbed to death in crude graves in orchards along the Feather River.

Juan V. Corona, 37, a Mexican-born farm labor contractor with a poor command of English, was formally arraigned in Justice Court Wednesday on 10 counts of murder—the 10 bodies exhumed by the time he was first taken to court one week before.

"I'd like to get it over and be done with it," Whiteaker said as he discussed the continuing search for gravesites. "I believe there are some bodies out there that will never be found."

The sheriff is using infrared aerial photography of the orchards in an effort to spot areas where the soil has been disturbed. Results should be available Friday.

Another potential gravesite still is under water and can't be probed until it dries, the sheriff said.

At Wednesday's closed arraignment before Justice Court Judge J. J. Hankins the proceedings were related to Corona by a Spanish language interpreter, Raoul Ybarra, a local florist.

Hankins asked: "Do you understand what you are being charged with?"

Ybarra replied for Corona: "No. He does not understand."

Hankins: "All right. You have been charged, Mr. Corona, with count one, a violation of Section 187 of the penal code, in that you did murder one Kenneth Edward Whiteacre."

Ybarra: "He don't know."

Hankins: "Well, does he understand what he's charged with?"

Ybarra: "Yes."

Then public defender Roy Van den Heuvel told the judge he did not have to read all 10 counts and told him Corona would plead innocent to all 10.

48 War Dead Counted in Week

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command reported 48 American battle deaths in its weekly casualty summary today, the highest toll in four weeks.

The total included most of the 30 U.S. soldiers killed in three North Vietnamese shelling attacks May 21 against American bases in the northern part of the country. These attacks included the rocketing of Fire Base Charlie 2 in which 29 soldiers were killed and 33 wounded.

Although these casualties occurred two weeks ago, most of them had been omitted from last week's summary because of Army reporting delays and the time needed to make positive identification and notify next of kin. Today's summary covers a seven-day period up to midnight Saturday.

The reported death toll was the highest weekly count since the week ending May 1, when 68 combat deaths were reported.

The command's summary listed 229 U.S. wounded last week, a sharp increase over the 92 reported for the previous week but about the same level as in the first two weeks of May.

A command spokesman said 16 American servicemen died last week from nonhostile causes such as accidents and illness, compared with 11 in the previous week.

Drug Abuse Ruled 'Endemic Disease' for SE Asia GIs

Dead Addict Told It All in a Film

By LEE LINDER

Associated Press Writer

NEWTOWN, Pa. (AP) — He died in jail a drug addict. In pain. He was hooked on heroin, a habit that reached 75 bags daily at a cost of $750 before his arrest.

He left behind a filmed confession, warning young people not to experiment with marijuana and hard drugs.

The film was made for police in April 1970, four months before he died awaiting trial for burglary. It is now being processed for school distribution, delayed because of legal problems with his family.

"Stop before you start," he said.

"Everyone near you, you hurt," he said. "No one escapes it."

The 29-year-old son of a white middle class suburban school teacher was identified only as "Dennis," to protect his wife and three children.

Those who fool around with marijuana are kidding themselves, he said.

"It has been my experience over the years with other drug addicts that the greater majority of them, if not all of them, start out with marijuana and then progress to harder drugs."

His arms and legs were covered with needle marks. They were almost as hard as stone after 13 years of injection after injection. Even under his fingernails.

"I used every vein that was available, in every part of my body," he said.

Dennis told his story in the studio of the Lower Bucks Cabletelevision to detectives of the Bucks County district attorney's office, in this small Philadelphia suburb. He agreed to do it to reach kids in junior and senior high schools and show them what being an addict is like.

Dennis said his drug addiction began at 16, when he tried heroin. He switched briefly to cocaine while he was being treated in a methadone withdrawal program.

"There's no cure for heroin

Army to Use Draftees at Own Skills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Selective Service and the Army are launching a joint effort to give the draftee a better chance of putting his civilian skills to military use.

And by August, a draftee's induction notice will be accompanied by a pamphlet telling him what to expect from the Army life.

So far as oldtimers at Selective Service and the Army can recall, this is the first time the draft system has been used as a pipeline to advise the draftee about military life.

Beginning today the Army is mailing to each state draft headquarters a six-month supply of "civilian employment training information" labels to be attached to a man's induction notice by his draft board.

The idea is to make sure the Army finds out about a draftee's particular skills. Despite a 10-year-old testing program, the Army has built a reputation of putting square pegs in round holes.

The new information label reads:

"The Army's personnel management system seeks to place the right man in the right job. To accomplish this objective, the Army needs to have a complete description of your civilian background and training to determine whether your qualifications correspond to a military occupational specialty."

"We, therefore, request that you bring all official documentation attesting to your qualifications when you report to the U.S. Army Reception Station."

Then the label adds the caution: "Please realize the Army cannot match everyone to a job related to his civilian training, and that this notification does not constitute a promise that you will be placed in a military specialty commensurate with your civilian training."

Senate to Make Double Investigation

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drug addiction among U.S. soldiers and veterans, called "so acute as to constitute an endemic disease," will be investigated in depth by two Senate subcommittees this month.

Pentagon policy in dealing with drug offenders will be explored June 9, and the lack of treatment for addicted veterans discharged as undesirable or for bad conduct will be reviewed at a joint hearing June 15-16.

Noting President Nixon has indicated more attention will be focused on drug abuse in the armed services, Sen. Vance Hartke said Wednesday the Senate probe will concentrate on "the broader based problem affecting those men who have been and will be discharged into the veteran population."

The Indiana Democrat, chairman of the Veterans' Affairs Committee, said the military drug problem "is so acute as to constitute an endemic disease in the veteran community of epidemic proportion."

The Senate Welfare subcommittee on alcoholism and narcotics, headed by Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, will initiate the June 9 review and will be joined for the June 15-16 hearing by the Veterans subcommittee on health and hospitals, headed by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

An estimated 30,000 to 45,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam are using hard drugs or narcotics, according to congressional and administration spokesmen.

The Air Force, Army and Navy have begun amnesty programs, permitting individuals to seek treatment for drug problems before they are caught.

Pentagon spokesmen confirm most discharges of drug-addicted personnel have been on undesirable or bad-conduct discharges, frequently for such related offenses as theft. Addicts are not eligible for disability discharge because drug addiction is not recognized by the military as a medical disability.

An undesirable or bad-conduct discharge strips a veteran of automatic eligibility for a variety of benefits, including Veterans Administration hospital and medical care.

Turbulent Weather Hits State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Turbulent weather returned to Arkansas Wednesday night. The National Weather Service issued tornado watches and severe thunderstorms watches as thunderstorms rumbled across the state, but there was no report of injury or serious damage.

State Police reported sighting a funnel cloud near Little Rock and the public reported spotting a funnel cloud southeast of Little Rock.

Marble-sized hail and 40 to 50 mile an hour winds were reported at Newport and winds up to 40 m.p.h. were reported at Conway.

A chance of thundershowers remains in the state forecast through Friday because of warm temperatures and the prevalent moisture. However, the precipitation probability is only 20 per cent to 30 per cent.

Temperatures were quite warm in the state again Wednesday. Jonesboro was the hottest spot in the state with a high of 92. Pine Bluff recorded a high of 91 and Texarkana 90.

Last Hurdle for Agency Consolidation

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's plan to consolidate several volunteer agencies including the Peace Corps and VISTA into a new Action Corps cleared its last congressional hurdle today.

The Senate upheld the plan, paving the way for it to go into effect July 1.

The Senate tally was 54 to 29. Only a Senate vote against the reorganization plan, upheld 224 to 131 by the House last week, could have blocked it. Executive reorganization plans take effect unless vetoed by either the House or Senate within 60 days after their presentation.

Sen. Harrison B. Williams, D-N.J., sponsor of the resolution against the plan, argued during two hours of debate Wednesday the President's proposal would stifle idealism and fall short of its goal to increase the volunteer spirit of American youth.

Williams was joined by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., and John V. Tunney, D-Calif.

They argued the Action Corps lacks a clearly defined purpose. "It is a collection of superficially similar programs linked in reality only by a vague concept of volunteerism," Williams said.

"The Peace Corps and VISTA have different motivational, cultural, training and administrative backgrounds. The essence of VISTA is the culture of poverty in America. The essence of the Peace Corps is living and working with people in the developing nations abroad," he added.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said, however, the Peace Corps and VISTA would not be submerged in the new agency.

"The President is not submerging them," he argued. "He is focusing particular attention on them. He is putting special emphasis on them and trying to bring their light out from under a basket and let the people see them."

Percy was joined by Sens. Roman Hruska, R-Nebr., Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., and Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md.

Under Nixon's plan, six programs would be merged immediately into the new agency headed by Peace Corps director Joseph Blatchford. They are Volunteers in Service to America, an arm of the Office of Economic Opportunity; Foster Grandparents and the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, now administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Service Corps of Retired Executives and Active Corps of Executives, administered by the Small Business Administration, and auxiliary and special volunteer programs within the OEO.

Bomb Blast in Lisbon, Parley Seat

LISBON (AP) — A bomb exploded in front of Lisbon's central post office early today, less than seven hours before the foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty met several miles away.

The blast tore a hole three yards in diameter in the street outside the post office, breaking telephone and telegraph cables that carried foreign traffic. Land-line communications between Portugal and foreign countries were interrupted for more than five hours.

No one was hurt.

Telephone communications were restored shortly after 8:30 a.m. but many telex and telegraph lines remained out. Communications already were strained by the influx of 250 newsmen for the NATO meeting.

$34,773 Shortage Charged

MARION, Ark. (AP) — A 52-count indictment was returned Wednesday by a 16-member Crittenden County Grand Jury charging Sheriff and Collector Marion Thomas with embezzling $34,773 in public funds.

The grand jury was empaneled Monday by Circuit Judge John Mosby of Lepanto to review a report of the Legislative Joint Auditing Committee that said Thomas misused $62,917 in county money and that A. B. Carter, the county clerk, had mishandled $9,267. The report said Thomas had repaid all but $36,552.

Prosecutor Gerald Pearson of Jonesboro said that because of a crowded court calendar it was not likely that Thomas would be brought to trial prior to the September term of court.

Pearson said matters pertaining to Carter's case were not presented to the grand jury because Edwin Arnold, a state auditor, was unable to appear to testify at this time.

The indictments against Thomas include eight charges that Pearson had filed earlier against the sheriff. Thomas remained free Wednesday on the $30,000 bond that he had posted in connection with the eight. No further bond was required.

Thomas was tried on two other charges of embezzlement last December and was acquitted.

He had been suspended as sheriff and collector while awaiting trial on the two charges and during the period won election to his fourth term. Pearson said there was some question under the law whether Thomas could be removed from office again pending litigation of the new charges.

Included in the 52 counts were charges that Thomas used $3,021 in county funds on Oct. 7, 1968, to pay his personal taxes and that on Sept. 30, 1969, he used $3,299 in public funds to again pay his taxes.

Government Defends Force on May Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration today continued its counterattack on critics who say the government responded unconstitutionally against the antiwar Mayday demonstrations.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and his top aide, Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst took over in separate speeches where President Nixon left off when he branded participants in the May 3-6 demonstrations as "vandals and hoodlums and lawbreakers."

Shouldering the burden of the administration's rebuttal, Kleindienst said the critics include "sidewalk superintendents" who, "in their eagerness to fault the police," created a fable of what actually took place May 3.

"The truth is that those who leaped forward to cry 'foul' when the Washington police did their duty would have found something to complain about no matter how Mayday was handled," he asserted.

"The truth is that the police foiled an attempt to stop the government with a minimum exercise of authority. Any less authority would have risked letting the mob rule the national capital."

Kleindienst's remarks were in a speech prepared for him in Cleveland, Ohio, Rotary Club; Mitchell's were in a speech read for him to a gathering of Washington Explorer Scouts.

Nixon's Tuesday news conference defense of mass arrests by Washington police despite dismissal of charges against most of the 7,000 hauled in May 3 triggered this response from the American Civil Liberties Union:

"It is shocking that the President, sworn to uphold the Constitution, believes he can turn it on and off like a traffic light on the corner to keep cars moving."

And two coordinators of the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice, which sponsored the May 3-5 attempts to shut down the government, termed Nixon "the chief hoodlum, the chief vandal, the chief lawbreaker in the world today."

Kleindienst said the ACLU, the news media and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., contributed to the fable that the government disregarded constitutional restraints to smash a minimal threat to its continued existence.

He denounced Kennedy for referring to the Mayday activities as "civil disobedience in the American tradition of Thoreau and Martin Luther King."

"Approximately 20,000 disrupters tried their best to carry out their announced intention of paralyzing Washington and stopping the government," Kleindienst said. "They did this by widespread and unrelenting acts of violence."

"To compare this vicious and wanton mob attack on Washington with the civil disobedience of Thoreau and Martin Luther King is to insult the memory of those men who stood for peaceful, nonviolent protest," he said.

Mitchell to Run Nixon Campaign?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high administration source says Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell will leave his Cabinet post to run President Nixon's 1972 campaign, the Washington Evening Star reports.

The Star said Wednesday that Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst or Jerris Leonard, new administrator of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, may succeed Mitchell as attorney general.

Both the White House and the Justice Department denied the story.

Mitchell directed Nixon's 1968 campaign. He has said repeatedly he has not been asked by the President to get involved in the 1972 elections and did not intend to volunteer for the job.

The Star also quoted presidential counselor Robert H. Finch as saying Nixon did not plan at this time to place stand-ins in the 1972 primaries. He said the decision by Sen. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, last week to run as a favorite-son candidate was "not a harbinger of stand-in candidates."

Paula Poindexter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Poindexter, and Nancy Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ross, have been selected to attend a Citizenship Seminar at Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas.

Hempstead County Farm Bureau and Mr. and Mrs. Troy Burson are sponsoring these two outstanding students from Hope and Blevins High Schools.

The seminar will start June 13 and go thru the 19th. It is a week of learning, inspiration, recreation and fellowship that will have meaning on down through the years.

Hundreds of young men and women have gained greater appreciation for the American way of life from the seminar, and have taken the message back to their communities with vigor and conviction. Tomorrow's leaders will be tested by vexing problems and challenged by unbelievable opportunities. The Seminar on Americanism is part of the preparation for that kind of tomorrow.

May Limit Debate on the Draft

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders are moving toward possible action to limit debate on the draft extension bill unless voluntary time limitations can be worked out on all pending amendments.

Leadership sources report a petition calling for a talk curb is being circulated and could be filed Friday following votes on ending the draft and limiting its extension to one year.

If the petition is filed, the Senate will vote next Tuesday on limiting debate on the remainder of the bill, including amendments yet to be considered.

These include the McGovern-Hatfield amendment to cut off all funds for U.S. operations in Indochina Dec. 31, and a variety of proposals dealing with the draft law itself.

Both sides agree privately a first effort to get the two-thirds needed for a debate limitation probably would fail, but a second bid later in the week might succeed.

Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., sponsor of the volunteer force proposal due for the first vote Friday, said during debate Wednesday he has 10 other amendments ready in the likely event that one fails.

"If it takes until December to consider the amendments," Hatfield said, "I am ready to fight the battle until December."

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, who has promised to filibuster to prevent passage of the draft bill by the June 30 expiration of the present act, said he is willing to agree to a reasonable time limitation on debate but none has been offered.

An aide to Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., co-sponsor of the Vietnam cutoff, said McGovern-Hatfield forces have told the leadership they would agree to about one week's debate on their amendment.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, however, said he thinks the debate could be even shorter since the measure was discussed last year before the Senate rejected it 55 to 39. Supporters say they didn't have enough time for proper debate last year.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee and the draft bill's floor manager, and Republican Leader Hugh Scott have said they will seek to cut off debate to assure enactment of the bill by June 30.

House Passes Own Bill to Create Jobs

By JOHN BECKLER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $5 billion Democratic program to create public service jobs for the unemployed has won House passage over strong administration opposition.

The House dealt President Nixon a double setback Wednesday. Not only did it advance a bill he doesn't want and may veto, but it rejected one of his special revenue-sharing bills.

Before passing the public service jobs bill 246 to 142 the House defeated 204 to 182 a substitute proposal by the administration to put a dozen federal manpower programs together under state control.

Democratic leaders, anxious to win the first congressional test involving revenue sharing mounted one of their strongest efforts of the session to dump the Nixon proposal.

Appealing to party loyalty, they got 16 Southern Democrats who voted for the administration plan two weeks ago to switch back to the party position. Ten other defectors were absent Wednesday.

The earlier vote, won by the Republicans 210 to 182, was on a procedural question. Sensing defeat, the leadership withdrew the bill until this week using the interim to switch enough votes to insure victory.

The public service employment bill is a key part of the domestic program being put together by congressional Democrats as an alternative to President Nixon's.

Another part is a $2-billion accelerated public works bill also designed to provide jobs for the unemployed. It recently cleared a House-Senate conference and should be sent to the White House this month.

With unemployment remaining around 6 per cent both bills confront Nixon with risking a politically dangerous veto. He vetoed a public service jobs bill last year and Republicans in Congress have predicted he will veto both its 1971 version and the accelerated public works bill this year.

The public service jobs bill is an emergency measure taking effect whenever the national unemployment rate reaches 4.5 per cent for three consecutive months. That would trigger a flow of federal money to states and communities to help them create public service jobs.

The bill authorizes an immediate outlay of $200 million, $750 million next year and $1 billion a year for the next three years, with an additional $1 billion for areas of high unemployment.

Etna Ends Its Period of Activity

It was the huge volcano's fourth worst eruption in three centuries.

Villagers returned to damaged homes evacuated on the northern edge of the mountain-side crossroads village of Fornazzo. Streams of molten rock narrowly missed striking the entire village.

Many residents are starting from scratch.

Asks High Court to Overrule

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pros. Atty. Jim Guy Tucker of Little Rock petitioned the Arkansas Supreme Court Wednesday to overrule Circuit Court Judge Richard B. Adkisson's decision to cancel the felony convictions of three persons who were convicted in Adkisson's court of operating a gambling house.

Joe Franklin Calva and Larry Griffith of North Little Rock and O. G. Mathis of Little Rock were convicted March 25. Each was sentenced to three years in prison.

Adkisson granted a defense motion for a new trial on May 6. He ruled that the search warrant used for a raid on a house where the defendants were arrested had been invalidly issued.

Tucker said that the convictions rested on the testimony of policemen who participated in the raid and on evidence seized by them.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. JAMES RONNIE SPEER

Linda Dianne Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cummings of Patmos, became the bride of James Ronnie Speer at 7:00 o'clock May 22, in the First United Methodist Church of Hope. Mr. Speer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Harold Speer of Camden.

Rev. Willard Burks read the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with greenery and candles. Miss Nancy Speer, sister of the groom and Keith Cummings, cousin of the bride, lit candles. A program of wedding music was presented by Luther Holloman who also accompanied the soloist Mrs. Paul Henley.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown fashioned in an Empire silhouette of Imported silk organza with a scooped neckline. Frosted Alencon lace accented the empire line and was used in triple rows on the full Bishop sleeves. The free flowing train was in a chapel length. She wore a face framing headpiece of silk organza bows accented with the Alencon lace for the leaves, attached to a four tier bouffant veil of Imported English illusion.

Miss Karen Goodman of Ash-down was Maid of Honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Janelle Odum, Patmos, and Miss Sharon Speer, Camden, sister of the groom. Mr. Speer served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Ronald Nutt, Camden and Rocky Cummings, Patmos, brother of the bride. Richard Gillespie, Camden seated the guests.

A reception honoring the couple was held at the Heritage House following the ceremony. Those serving the guest were Miss Kay Moore and Miss Martha Mosley, Hope, Miss Jean Tirk, Smackover, Miss Patty Payne and Miss Cheryl Watson of Mt. Holley.

The couple will reside in Magnolia where Mr. Speer is a student at Southern State College.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The variety show, network television's single most popular form during the 1970-71 season, goes on the endangered species list in the 1971-72 season.

Out of about 15 programs in the category during the past fall and winter, only four have survived for another year.

One theory is that big, brassy variety shows, costing $200,000 or more per program, are victims of the economic pinch because they are good for only one or two repeat broadcasts. There are those—largely older viewers—who believe that variety has been gutted to death: all those long-haired guys in suede jackets and fringe strummin' and preachin' about peace and love. Others insist that there have been so many hours of comedy with music or music with comedy that one show looked pretty much like the next one, particularly since the guest stars were making a circuit around them.

Carol Burnett, Glen Campbell, Dean Martin and Flip Wilson have escaped the wholesale axing, but the casualty list is long, ranging from Ed Sullivan and Lawrence Welk to Johnny Cash, Tom Jones and Andy Williams.

Veteran viewers, accustomed if not reconciled to drastic action, have learned to take these upheavals in stride. Some seasons after a glut of situation comedies, they start dropping like flies. Then Westerns suddenly went out of style. After a rest, they always come back.

Meanwhile, there is a whole summer to get through, and variety shows are the broad-casting equivalent of the publishing business's hammock reading—light, hot weather diversion.

Before long there will be NBC's "Make Your Own Kind of Music," CBS's "Newcomers" and "Sonny and Cher Show," and ABC's "Val Doonican Show." Mel Torme's "It Was a Very Good Year" has already made its ABC debut.

Des O'Connor returned to NBC Wednesday night, once again the summer substitute for "Music Hall." It was an auspicious occasion since Jack Benny, in good form, was the guest star.

The London-made program with its British star is pleasantly low key and easy to take. O'Connor functions agreeably as host and straight man, frequently breaking into song.

Connie Stevens is to be a regular on each of the 14 programs, presumably to give it a valid American aspect. She handled a couple of songs and one dance number very well.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS 'Food Technology Is Not Nutrition'
By GAYNOR MADDOX
Food and Nutrition Columnist
Is she a prophet or just a zealot? That is the question about a hell-raising woman in New Hampshire who urges every citizen to rise in revolt against the shoddy practices of food manufacturers and government agencies.
Her particular rage seems to be directed toward the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Food and Drug Administration. She is Beatrice Trum Hunter. She has a master's degree from Columbia, but concentrates on a stone grinding mill where she prepares all grain for cereals, bread and muffins for her own use. She also has just written her second book, "Consumer Beware—Your Food and What's Been Done to It." Her first was "The Natural Foods Cookbook." She lives with her husband near Hillsboro, N.H., and refuses to have a telephone in her home.
In her 442-page book "Consumer Beware" she reviews many of what she sees as evils of manufacturers and government connivance. She is particularly harsh about eggs, so plentiful and cheap. "The quest for profit shows up in today's egg production. Laying hens are victims of automation. They are reared in structures with ventilating systems and controlled lighting. They are crowded together. These mechanical and space-saving tricks breed disease and mortality," she observes.
Farm eggs always are valued because of superior fresh flavor and nutritional value. But "battery" eggs can scarcely be considered fresh. Mrs. Hunter says, "They may be washed with detergents and sanitized. To extend their shelf life they are dipped in oil. They may be kept in the storage cooler for two weeks before delivery. Many eggs are held much longer in cold storage. But the consumer has no way of distinguishing fresh from cold storage eggs."
She resents bitterly what she calls the unholy alliance between science and food industry and protests that food technology is not nutrition. "Foods without chemicals—that should be the consumers great hope. I think we are gradually becoming aware of this as a possibility. The revolt has started. Look in your own neighborhood—there are probably five natural food stores in it where a few years ago there was only one. What a great day it will be when you can buy beef without antibiotics, poultry that has not been remade and fish that is actually as it came from the sea," she exclaims.

Ali, Ellis to Meet in Astrodome

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm out to get Joe!" Muhammad Ali ranted.

Jimmy Ellis is out to get him, too—but first he wants to get rid of his image as an understudy.

Joe Frazier, heavyweight champion of the world, is the man they're after, the only man to demolish each of their hopes for a championship.

Ali and Ellis took a step on their comeback trails Wednesday, signing for a scheduled 12-round fight July 26 at the Houston Astrodome. The winner will be a likely candidate for another title shot at Frazier.

The careers of the two Louisville, Ky., fighters have paralleled each other for years, since they fought as amateurs, but Ellis spent most of the time in Ali's shadow.

He was the sparring partner when Ali took the championship from Sonny Liston in 1964 and remained in the background role until Ali was stripped of the title in 1967 for refusing military induction.

Ellis then came into his own and, with Ali serving as an occasional sparring partner, won the World Boxing Association crown.

But Frazier was recognized as the champion by New York and several other states. And on Feb. 16, 1970, he got the rest of it with a fifth-round knockout of Ellis in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Then it was Ali's turn, returning after a 3½-year absence and knockout victories over Jerry Quarry and Oscar Bonavena. But he failed against Frazier, losing in 15 rounds last March 8, also at the Garden.

"It don't make you feel good to be underestimated," Ellis says of his years as Ali's training mate. "Everybody talks about how he lost something in that 3½-year layoff. Hell, I was out for 17 months and that didn't do me no good."

Since then, Ellis, ranked No. 7, has won three in a row, beating Roberto Davila, Irish Tony Doyle and Canadian champion George Chuvalo. He owns a 30-6 record. Ali, at 29 two years younger than Ellis, is (31-1) ranked No. 1.

While Ellis sat quietly, seemingly amused by the showboating of his longtime friend, Ali shouted, taunted and repeatedly slapped a fist into an open palm, trying to look fierce but occasionally smothering a grin.

"Ol' Jimmy, he was with me when I was coming up, he was with me when I was champion, then all of a sudden when they took the title away from me Jimmy started going around bad-mouthing me and saying how he could beat me and all that."

"Now we're gonna settle it. Now we're gonna straighten this all out!"

Rop Rank, Inc., and Astro-dome Championship Enterprises, Inc., co-promoters of the closed-circuit bout, said Ali will receive 45 per cent of all income against a $450,000 guarantee and Ellis will receive 20 per cent of all income. Tickets will be scaled down from $75 at ringside to 10,000 seats at $5 apiece, demanded by Ali "for all the poor people" who haven't had a chance to see him fight in person.

BOSTON (AP) — The New England Patriots Wednesday named Peter Hadhazy executive assistant to General Manager Upton Bell.

King Wants Bat That Beat Astros

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Atlanta Braves can expect a bill in the mail one of these days from the New York Mets for one baseball bat, Dave Marshall model.

They will pay for the wood because Hal King has fallen in love with it and because it gave the Braves a 3-1 victory over Houston Astros Wednesday night. Victories have been few and far between for the Braves lately, so this one will be worth the price of Marshall's bat.

King's two-run homer, with Marshall's bat, broke a seventh inning tie for the Braves and ended Atlanta's losing streak at five games.

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday, Pittsburgh pounded St. Louis 10-1, New York topped San Francisco 5-2, Chicago swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati 6-3 and 4-1, San Diego blanked Philadelphia 6-0 and Los Angeles battered Montreal 7-1.

In the American League, New York dropped Boston 6-1, California edged Washington 2-1, Baltimore went 11 innings to nip Chicago 3-2, Cleveland trimmed Milwaukee 4-2 and Detroit nipped Minnesota 5-4.

King's romance with Marshall's bat began 10 days ago when the Braves were in New York.

"It was just laying there, so I picked it up and felt it," said King. "I liked it and since the Mets left it there on the rack, I took it."

The borrowed ... or rather, appropriated ... bat made good contact for King twice. The first time Houston's Cesar Cedeño, who made three outstanding catches in the game, robbed him of a homer by leaning over the center field fence to spear his drive. The second shot in the seventh produced one of the longest homers ever hit in Atlanta, a towering drive that hit the facade of the club level in right field.

The Mets could afford to be generous with their spare bats. They got enough late hitting to overcome a 2-0 deficit and beat San Francisco and longtime nemesis Juan Marichal. It was only Marichal's fourth loss in 27 lifetime decisions against New York.

Rookie Charlie Williams earned the victory with five shutout innings of relief. Art Shamsky poled a homer and Dave Marshall, with one of his bats missing, was retired as a pinch hitter, extending his hitless string to 21 consecutive at bats.

Nate Colbert's three-run homer and a solo shot by Ivan Murrell moved San Diego past Philadelphia as rookie Steve Arlin fired a five-hitter.

Both benches emptied twice in the late innings as first San Diego's Clarence Gaston and then Philadelphia's Don Money were brushed back by close pitches. But no punches were thrown either time.

Dave Cash drilled a single, double and triple, leading Pittsburgh's rout of St. Louis. Luke Walker and two relievers scattered seven hits but the Pirate pitching staff's scoreless string ended at 34 innings when the Cards managed a run on a sacrifice fly.

Willie Stargell drove in three runs for the Pirates who closed to within one-half game of St. Louis at the top of the NL East.

Richie Allen's two-run double highlighted a five-run Los Angeles rally in the third inning as the Dodgers clipped Montreal. Jim Lefebvre and Tom Haller homered for the Dodgers and Willie Davis extended his hitting streak to 25 games, one of Lou Brock's 26-game streak which ended earlier this week.

The Cubs used a pair of three-run homers—by Ernie Banks in the first game and Billy Williams in the second—to slug Cincinnati twice.

Banks' seventh inning shot was his first this season and No. 510 for his career and it snapped a 2-2 tie. Williams busted a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning of the nightcap with his 13th of the season.

and photographers. He was reported in serious condition Saturday, and was placed on the critical list at 4:30 a.m. Sunday.

Mike Mosley, race driver from Brownsburg, Ind., was still listed in serious condition with compound fractures of a leg and an arm.

The cute young lady in the picture is Pam Wright, who replaced Mr. Atkins who was not present when picture was made.

Baltimore Regains 1st Place

By DICK COUCH

Those battling Birds from Baltimore have come home to roost—without throwing a single punch.

The Orioles pecked their way to a 3-2 12-inning victory over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday night and regained first place in the American League East.

No beanballs were unleashed and no fans were pummeled—in contrast to the Orioles' Memorial Day donnybrook at Chicago. The world champions merely dazzled the White Sox with their footwork this time around.

Paul Blair scored the winning run on a bases-loaded wild pitch by Terry Forster in the 12th—after dodging a tag by third baseman Bill Melton to reach third on Dave Johnson's one-out grounder.

Brooks Robinson had tied the game with a two-run single in the ninth—after Merv Rettenmund kept the rally going by beating out a slow roller to Melton.

The victory, coupled with Boston's 6-1 loss to the New York Yankees, sent Baltimore into the division lead over the first time since April 29—with a margin of four percentage points over the skidding Red Sox.

Elsewhere in the AL, Detroit nipped Minnesota 5-4; California edged Washington 2-1 in a rain-shortened game and Cleveland topped Milwaukee 4-2. Kansas City and Oakland were not scheduled.

In National League action, the New York Mets downed San Francisco 5-2; the Chicago Cubs swept a two-night double.

PITCHING — Steve Arlin,

Padres, tossed a five-hitter for his third major league victory—all via the shutout route—in blanking Philadelphia 6-0.

Probation Tones Down Dave Hill

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — It was a subdued Dave Hill, burdened with a one-year probation and facing an uncertain playing career, who set out today in the first round of the leader from Cincinnati 6-3 and 4-1; Pittsburgh slammed St. Louis 10-1; Los Angeles walloped Montreal 7-1; San Diego blanked Philadelphia 6-0 and Atlanta beat Houston 3-1.

Tom Bradley, Chicago's young pitching star, stymied the Orioles on three hits until the ninth, when Dave Johnson cracked a leadoff single. He took second on a balk, before Bradley walked Frank Robinson and gave up Rettenmund's infield hit, filling the bases.

Brooks Robinson then knotted it 2-2 with single to left.

In the 12th, Vicente Romo walked Blair, batting for reliever Dick Hall, on four pitches. Don Buford sacrificed and Johnson bounced to Melton, who went for the sidestepping Blair and missed the tag. The White Sox protested that Blair had left the baseline and Coach Joe Lonnett was ejected from the game.

Forster then came out of the White Sox bullpen, walked Boog Powell to fill the bases and tossed the tie-breaking wild pitch.

Bobby Murcer hit his ninth and 10th home runs of the season as the Yankees routed previously-unbeaten Sonny Siebert and handed Boston its fifth straight setback behind the six-hit pitching of Stan Bahnsen.

Siebert, who had won 11 in a row—including nine this season—left for a pinch-hitter in the sixth inning trailing 4-0.

Horace Clarke drilled two singles and a triple, stole two bases, scored one run and knocked in a pair for the Yanks.

The Tigers built a 5-1 lead and then withstood a three-run Minnesota rally in the eighth to climb within 2½ games of the East Division lead.

Fred Scherman relieved winner Joe Coleman and snuffed out the eighth inning rally. Dick McAuliffe homered for the Tigers.

Clyde Wright checked Washington on four hits and drove in the deciding run with a second inning single off Denny McLain as the Angels ended a four-game tailspin in a game halted by rain in the top of the eighth. McLain, 4-9, has lost four in a row and six of his last seven starts.

Cleveland's Sam McDowell won his fourth straight for a 5-5 mark, but needed ninth inning relief help as the Indians beat Milwaukee with a flurry of three unearned runs in the third.

McDowell, who gave up five hits, struck out eight and walked six, was lifted with a 2-0 count on the first batter he faced in the ninth. Phil Hennigan and Rick Austin finished up.

"I'm tired of being the bad guy in the black hat," quipped the volatile Hill. "This week I'm wearing a white hat. Rode up on a white charger and I've got him parked right outside."

The 34-year-old Hill was slapped with the probation for "conduct unbecoming a professional golfer" in his second round of the Colonial National Invitation Tournament in Fort Worth, Tex. two weeks ago.

Hill, playing poorly that day, threw a ball out of a sand trap on the 18th hole and purposely signed an incorrect scorecard. He was disqualified on the spot and later fined $500.

Hill, the storm center of several major controversies in recent years, paid the fine and followed up with a $1 million damage suit against the Tournament Players Division and the Professional Golfers Association. The suit, the first of its kind against the two golf groups, is pending in federal district court in Memphis, Tenn.

The suit, among other things, charged the PGA and the TPD with violation of Hill's civil rights, violation of his right of free speech and violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

The suspension was handed down by the Policy Board of the Tournament Players Division and does not prohibit Hill from playing.

But, "In the event of further infraction of Tournament Rules and Regulations, during the probationary period, Mr. Hill will be subject to suspension from TPD competition and termination of TPD membership," a prepared statement issued by TPD Commissioner Joe Dey said.

That would prohibit Hill from BOSTON (AP) — The New England Patriots announced Wednesday the signing of four choices from the recent college player draft in the National Football League.

HOW FISHERMEN CATCH PEOPLE

#2 - Three's A Crowd

When fishing with a companion, be certain the maximum reach of your arm and rod still leaves at least two feet between lure and man. If length of your boat does not allow this margin of safety, then both fishermen should make a firm rule - never cast parallel to the boat, only at right angles to it. In this way neither fisherman will endanger the other with his backcast. If there must be more than two fishermen in the boat, the overhead cast should be used exclusively.

Maybe you've outgrown your present fishing boat and motor. Fishing and boating has become America's No. 1 pastime and today there is a boat for every purpose and within the means of everyone. With the help of our low rate bank financing, you can own the one of your choice, too.

Texan Makes Large Butterfly Caught Graham Sees It in English Amateur

By THOMAS A. REEDY
CARNOSTIE, Scotland
(AP) — Thirty-two survivors emerged today from an original field of 256 in the British Amateur Golf Championship and the most confident of the whole lot was a freckled-faced, bespectacled, 21-year-old Texan.

"I really feel good here and I really like this course," said Tom Kite Jr., of McKinney, Tex.

Kite is one of six Americans still left, out of 65 who first entered the 86th renewal of this unique match-play competition, and he described Carnoustie's 6,828-yard par 72 seaside links as something "We Americans understand."

Kite has walked through his three matches here without ever walking past the 17th green.

The fourth round of the championship pitted Kite against Walter Black of Scotland.

The other American Walker Cup players were stacked like this:

Steve Melnyk of Jacksonville, Fla., took on John Gloer of Wales. John Farquhar, Amarillo, Tex., met Hugh Stuart, British Walker Cup star who won all three of his matches at St. Andrews last week. Jim Simons, Butler, Pa., played the youngest man in the championship, 16-year-old Howard Clark of England.

The two American outsiders were Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., an ex-Walker Cupper, and Mike Sanger of Mt. Kisco, N.Y.

Updegraff, a semifinalist in the Amateur in Scotland eight years ago, was paired against 25-year-old Bill Hogg.

Sanger drew a giant killer, 18-year-old Andrew Chandler of England, who eliminated Vinnie Giles, Richmond, Va., on the 23rd hole Wednesday.

The fourth and fifth 18-hole rounds today cut the field back to 16 players for the quarter and semifinals. The 36-hole final is on Saturday.

Collegiate World Series Begins 12th

LOS ANGELES (AP) — How can the University of Southern California baseball team, with almost the entire team back from last year, be called one of the youngest in the school's history? Easy.

Last year, the Trojans won the national collegiate baseball championship with an experienced club which contained a large number of seniors and a large number of nonplaying freshmen. The freshmen all went to the college world series. And almost all are back—as veterans on a title winning team.

USC is to take on Seton Hall, champion of the NCAA's District 2, on June 12 in Omaha, Neb., to start the college world series. The USC lineup for that game will contain one senior.

At first base will be sophomore Daryl Arenstein, hitting .329. At second will be Mike Ball, .282 and at shortstop is sensational freshman George Ambrow, .317. The third baseman is junior Jeff Port, .280. The only senior who figures to start is catcher Craig Perkins, batting .309.

Freshman Fred Lynn, batting .327, junior Tim Steele, .324, and junior Gordon Carter, .286, constitute the top three outfielders. Others who figure to see duty in the field are Jeff Pedersen, a junior, who's hitting .294, and senior Frank Alfano, a regular last year who is having a hard time finding a starting job. He's hitting .243.

The team batting average is .290.

USC is 39-10 this season under NCAA coach of the year Rod Dedeaux and the pitching has been the key.

Junior Mark Sogge is 12-1 followed by senior Steve Busby, 10-1, junior Greg Widman, 8-2, freshman Randy Scarbery, 9-3, and sophomore Eric Raich, a former football player, 7-3. The team's earned run average is a

Weaver 1st in Atlanta Warmup

ATLANTA (AP) — DeWitt Weaver fired a sizzling 66 at Atlanta Country Club Wednesday to take first place in the pro-am preliminary to the Atlanta Classic golf tournament.

Weaver, a husky Atlantan who has been on a hot streak lately, got three birdies on each side in fashioning his score, which matched the Classic's Pro-Am record, and collecting the $500 check.

Pros Larry Hinson and Gardner Dickinson led their partners to a first place tie with 54s in the team competition. Hinson's mates were Julian LeCraw, John Hunt and Tony Pistoria. Dickinson was joined by Joe Delaney, Buster Osman and Cal Long.

More than 18,000 turned out for the action with most of them following the foursome which included Bob Hope and Jack Nicklaus.

Nicklaus checked in with a three over par 75 and Hope supplied a couple of birdies and numerous quips.

sparkling 2.80.

USC has won a record six national collegiate baseball titles, all under Dedeaux, and has a baseball playoff record of 42 victories, 17 defeats in 13 appearances.

Of the 21 players who'll make the trip to Omaha, 15 were in the world series a year ago. And yet with only four seniors on this year's team, it's the youngest Dedeaux has ever coached.

U.S. Colt, Mill Reef, Wins Derby

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
EPSOM DOWNS, England (AP) — In this ecumenical age of common market cordiality, it seemed only right and proper that an American colt, the favored Mill Reef, should win the 192nd running of the Derby Stakes, followed by two French-bred contenders and an immigrant from Ireland.

In a rare day in June, unsullied by rain or the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home," Pittsburgh millionaire Paul Mellon's little bay romped uphill to paydirt Wednesday in the presence of Queen Elizabeth II and 300,000 of her loyal subjects, including assorted gypsies, knife throwers, Chelsea birds in hot pants and bra-less net blouses and florid-faced dockers come by the pubload in chartered buses.

The Derby—admission free—is probably the world's most democratic horse race, despite the upper class pronunciation that rhymes it with "Parthree" and separates it from its Kentucky cousin, which in most off-track betting circles is now pronounced doy-bee.

On a horseshoe shaped mile-and-a-half turf course, dotted in the distance with the turrets and towers of eight mental asylums, British jockey Geoff Lewis literally steered Mill Reef up hill and down dale past 20 other incipient three-year olds.

In the thrilling cavalry charge for the Derby gold cup, Britain's biggest racing pot at $147,900, the American son of Never Bend crossed the line two lengths ahead of the French-reared Linden Tree, which had led most of the way.

Two and a half lengths further came Irish Ball, also a French entry despite the name, followed by Lompardo, trained on the soggy plains west of Dublin.

Travs Win on Wissler's Home Run

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bob Wissler slammed his 12th home run of the season Wednesday night as the Arkansas Travelers defeated the Savannah Braves 2-0 in a game that was called after five innings because of rain.

The victory pushed the Travelers to a three-game lead over second-place Memphis in the Central Division of the Dixie Association. Memphis lost 6-5 to Asheville Wednesday.

Arkansas picked up its first run in the first inning when second baseman Tom Heintzelman doubled and was singled home by Jorge Roque.

Wissler's homer came in the fifth. It was a line driver over the right field fence.

In other Dixie action, Albuquerque nipped Amarillo 4-3, San Antonio shaved Dallas-Fort

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Otto Graham, former head coach of the Washington Redskins, says he thinks the National Football League will emerge unscathed from the current federal grand jury investigation into NFL operations.

"I have faith in our judicial system," said Graham after appearing Wednesday before the grand jury here.

He confirmed what some other witnesses have told news-men, that the grand jury is focusing on charges of black-balling by certain players.

But Graham said he knew of no blackballing or racial discrimination in the NFL.

Graham, former star quarterback for the Cleveland Browns, currently is athletic director at the Coast Guard Academy, where he was head football coach from 1959 to 1965. He left the academy in 1965 to go to the Redskins, where he was head coach for three years.

Graham said he prepared for his grand jury appearance by reading Johnny Sample's "Confessions of a Dirty Ballplayer."

Sample and Graham had run-ins during the 1957 college all-star game, when Sample was a player and Graham coached the squad, and also during the 1969 all-star game, when Sample was with the New York Jets.

Sample testified previously before the grand jury, and Graham said Sample's name was one of several that came up during the testimony.

Also testifying Wednesday was Al Davis, general manager of the Oakland Raiders who served briefly as commissioner of the American Football League prior to its merger with the NFL.

Davis, 41, declined to discuss his testimony but said he was impressed by the sincerity and interest in pro football demonstrated by members of the jury.

The grand jury is expected to hear more witnesses today before adjourning for the summer.

Bid for Memphis Rejected

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Robert Martin, Miami broadcast executive, has offered $1.5 million for the Memphis Pros of the American Basketball Association, the Commercial Appeal reported today.

John "Buddy" Leake, board chairman of Pros' parent firm, Memphis Area Sports, Inc., said the bid, upped from an initial offer of $1.2 million, has been rejected.

Martin's offer was said to be conditional on his being allowed to move the team to Tampa and he reportedly made the bid on behalf of investors in the Tampa Bay area.

The Pros were in financial trouble earlier this year and the ABA at that time threatened to sell the club to out of state interests. That was before stock was sold to the public in Memphis to keep the team alive.

In discussing rejection of the bid, Leake said, "We had no intention of letting the basketball team leave the city. The people of Memphis worked too hard to keep it."

The Texas Chaparrals, another ABA squad, also have reported that Martin has talked to them about acquiring the Texas franchise, but said he did not mention figures.

Pros' General Manager Charles Cavagnaro said the Martin offer for the Memphis squad might have been fair while the team was in trouble.

But, Cavagnaro said a lot has happened since then, including a merger agreement between the ABA and the NBA and the acquisition by the Pros of Johnny Neumann, former Mississippi sophomore star.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mount San Antonio College registered 15 youths Tuesday for the fourth international track and field competition for youths to be held here June 18-20.

Worth 1-0, Montgomery blasted Charlotte 8-1, Birmingham routed Jacksonville 10-0 and Columbus snapped a 15-game losing streak by defeating Shreveport 7-5.

"Duck soup," chortled B. This play was old when I first used it for R. F. Foster in 1920. South had won the club lead with the ace and lost the trump finesse to B at trick two.

B followed up his remark by leading the deuce of spades. West's nine forced out one of dummy's honors. Later on, when West gained the lead with a club, he was able to give B two spade tricks.

B's play was one that any really good player might have made. South was marked with both the ace and king of diamonds for his bids and, if he also held the jack of spades, there would be no defense possible.

Z, who had arrived too late to play, remarked to B, "If I had been declarer, I would have played the nine of clubs, not the ace, on the first trick. Your partner would have read your four-spot as a come-on and probably continued the suit. Whereupon, I would have romped home with my contract."

"I guess I would have done just that," said West. "I wonder what A would have done at trick two if he had been defending with B."

"A would probably have continued clubs, just as you would have."

You won't find the play Z suggested in any of the old columns. The reason Z is so tough is because he keeps finding new tricks to add to the ones he learned when he played auction.

Penn-Central Selling Off Its Land

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The financially troubled Penn Central Transportation Co. has proposed selling land and buildings in the heart of New York City worth an estimated $1.24 billion.

The sale could result in the largest real estate deal ever by a single owner.

The property includes six skyscrapers and 17 other parcels of land occupied by buildings, as well as air rights for construction over Grand Central Terminal.

The buildings being offered outright for sale include the Commodore, Roosevelt, Biltmore and Barclay hotels and two office buildings. The land includes that occupied by the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The Waldorf-Astoria itself is not included.

All of the property covered in Wednesday's announcement is located within a 10-block, 29-acre area bounded by Madison Avenue, Lexington Avenue, 42nd Street and 52nd Street.

The sale is subject to the approval of a federal judge supervising reorganization of the railroad under federal bankruptcy laws.

Last June 21 the railroad declared in a court petition that it was "virtually without cash" and would have to reorganize.

The giant railroad has many nonrailroad assets, including amusement parks in Texas, pipelines in the South, hotels in Florida, and acres of valuable real estate in the nation's principal cities.

Under the provisions of a $100 million loan guarantee granted the Penn Central by the Department of Transportation earlier this year, the firm is required to dispose of its non-transportation properties.

The New York real estate package constitutes roughly one-fourth of the company's total holdings. The 17 parcels of land command total annual rentals of more than $21.2 million.

lion.

The centerpiece of the railroad's New York properties is the stately old Grand Central Terminal.

Although the terminal is not for sale, the railroad is offering 1.7 million square feet of air rights above the station to any prospective builder.

The first hint that Penn Central might dispose of the property came in March when the trustees, in a report on the status of reorganization, said they were studying "sale of other advantageous disposition of ... wholly owned subsidiaries ... investments in affiliated corporations ... and nonrail subsidiaries."

Secy. Connally Will Make 2nd House Plea on Revenue Sharing

By EDMOND Le BRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's $5 billion revenue sharing plan is "the most dangerous program ever developed," Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., told Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally today.

The direct confrontation between Mills, chairman of the House subcommittee, and the administration's principal spokesman for revenue sharing increased indications that the plan will die in the committee.

Mills has predicted this, but also has promised to keep looking for ways to help local governments, especially cities, out of their financial difficulties.

Mills said that, contrary to the declared intention of strengthening state and local governments, the revenue sharing plan would weaken them because Congress inevitably would tie strings sooner or later to the federal funds made available.

"You have brought into the committee room a Trojan horse," Mills said. "When all the things in it emerge, you will find more restrictions and shackles on the states than before."

Connally acknowledged it is possible that future congresses might put conditions on the use of the funds, and said this would be tragic.

But he contended that there is nothing completely new about the principle since states have been sharing revenues with their subdivisions right along.

Dealing President Nixon another setback in a related field, the House Wednesday turned down, 204 to 182, the first of six special revenue-sharing plans to come to a vote.

The House rejected a comprehensive overhaul of federal manpower programs, part of Nixon's project to provide $11 billion in special block allocations superseding many categorical federal-state aid programs.

Some of the sharpest criticism of the $5-billion general revenue-sharing program came from the senior Republican member of Ways and Means, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin.

Byrnes is backing a substitute measure to provide federal income tax credits for part of the state and local income taxes paid by individuals. He contends it would be more responsible to afford this relief and then leave the states to enact their own additional taxes to take up the slack and finance their own projects.

Byrnes said the amount of tax effort varies widely from state to state and asked: "Why by monetary aid should we perpetuate the disparity between what the states do for themselves?"

He produced figures grouping the states by their tax effort—local revenue raised in proportion to personal income.

Brunette Color Girl of Middies

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A 5-foot-4 brunette will be this year's color girl at the U.S. Naval Academy.

Donna J. Donahue, 22, a registered nurse at Newton-Well-Hesley Hospital in Newton, Mass., was chosen by Midshipman Jack L. Conrad of Allentown, Pa., commander of this year's winning company.

The color company is selected from the 36 that make up the academy's 4,200-man brigade in year-long competition based on academic accomplishment, military precision, athletics and extracurricular activity.

'One-Sided' General Calls Accusation

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The first U.S. general accused of murdering civilians in South Vietnam says the charges against him are "based on a one-sided report."

Brig. Gen. John W. Donaldson, until recently a top planner for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said Wednesday the investigation conducted by the Army's Criminal Intelligence Division was not complete.

"Certain parts of this report and investigation have just now been made available to me and to my counsel," Donaldson said.

"I would like to say I have full faith in the United States Army. The Army has been my life and I have full confidence in the U.S. military judicial system," he said.

The 47-year-old West Point graduate is accused of murdering six Vietnamese civilians and assaulting two others.

The Army has disclosed few details of the case but Pentagon sources said an investigation was started in November after a helicopter pilot said the general took pot shots at Vietnamese civilians while flying over Quang Ngai Province during an operation in late 1968. Donaldson was commander of the 4th Infantry Brigade at the time of the alleged incidents.

The Army, in announcing the charges, used the term "alleged" in referring to the civilians. It is understood this phrasing was used because an issue in the case is whether they were enemy troops.

Also Wednesday, the Army said Lt. Col. William J. McCloskey has been charged with the death of two Vietnamese civilians in March 1969. The Army said the two cases are not related.

Both officers were members of the Americal Division, 11th Infantry Brigade, units of which were involved in the My Lai massacre. However, My Lai took place in March 1968, before either of the incidents said to have involved Donaldson and McCloskey.

Officials said Donaldson, also the first American general charged with a war crime since 1901, was advised in advance the charges would be announced and took the day off from his job as special assistant to the chief of staff for the 1st Army, headquartered at Ft. Meade, Md.

He spoke to newsmen briefly outside his home in suburban Virginia but refused to answer questions about the basis for the charges.

The charges against Donaldson and McCloskey now will be reviewed by Lt. Gen. Claire Hutchin, commanding general of the 1st Army. He will decide whether to carry the cases further and order a grand jury-type investigation.

Wheat Germ Pancakes Are Light and Tender

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

You don't have to be a "health nut" to acknowledge the value of wheat germ. Its claim to providing vitamins and minerals in good measure is undisputed.

That's why nutrition-conscious mothers like to add this convenient product to as many dishes as they can.

One good way to use this valuable food is to add it to pancakes most families love them. And the following recipe bakes the lightest and tenderest wheat germ pancakes we've ever eaten. Serve these pancakes for breakfast, brunch, lunch or Sunday-night supper, along with bacon or ham, and you'll have a great main course.

WHEAT GERM BUTTERMILK PANCAKES
1 cup unsifted flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup wheat germ
2 large eggs, separated
2 cups buttermilk
3 tablespoons butter, melted

Into a medium mixing bowl turn the flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda and salt; stir together thoroughly. Stir in wheat germ.

Into a small mixing bowl turn the egg yolks and 1/2 cup of the buttermilk; beat to combine. Add remaining 1 1/2 cups buttermilk and the melted butter; beat to combine. Gradually stir into dry ingredients.

With clean beater, beat egg whites until they hold peaks that tilt slightly when beater is slowly withdrawn. Add to flour mixture and fold in.

For each pancake, pour 1/3 cup batter onto a hot lightly greased griddle. Bake until bubbly on top and dry around edges; turn and bake until under side is browned.

Serve at once with butter and maple syrup.

Makes 12 to 14 pancakes

MONEY CLIPS

by Mort Reed

Few U.S. coins prior to 1892 can claim a circulation tenure unmarred by at least one type of die variation. Practically every denomination experienced one major and several minor corrections or errors before being discontinued.

Not so with coins of the Barber-head series issued from 1892 to 1916. The dime, quarter and half-dollar, all with the same Liberty device, held up pretty well during a fairly crucial period in American history. And save for World War I, the design could have continued unchanged for at least five to 10 more years.

The design contained all of the right elements, properly proportioned and arranged in a manner that left no doubt who issued the coin. It is strictly American in every sense of the word and many collectors and curators, foreign and domestic, consider the Barber coins among the most attractive of all U.S. currency.

Charles Barber left nothing to the imagination, even to the point of commingling controversial components, such as six-point and five-point stars. He bridged the gap between those in government who preferred one star over the other without allowing room for argument from proponents of either.

The six-pointed star is from English heraldry and the five-pointed star is from French heraldry. Both are of Roman origin but in American history they serve only as designative symbols of no interpretable heraldic value.

So Barber decided to play it safe by using both. Without breaking tradition, he placed 13 six-pointed stars around the obverse device. But above the eagle on the reverse, Barber substituted 13 of the five-point variety as called for in the design of the Great Seal of the United States.

Secondly, he replaced the familiar obese bust of Liberty with a delightfully feminine profile of strong characteristics that met with the approval of shopkeepers and customers alike.

At this point, Barber had everything going for him. He had taken nothing for granted and he had executed perfectly his concept of an appropriate design for a coin of the United States. Its success during a 25-year service period depended entirely on the skill of the die sinker and ultimately the press operators.

From all indications they, too, were on their toes. The mint director never found it necessary to make a change in the design and the production line craftsmanship never allowed even the slightest malfunction during the coining process. The last half-dollars struck in 1915 and the last dimes and quarters struck in 1916 were identical in every respect to the first of each denomination struck in 1892.

Coins of the Barber series were struck in Philadelphia, Denver, New Orleans and San Francisco mints. In a total of 73 pieces representing a specimen for each year from each mint, only six of the half-dollars are valued at less than $100 apiece in uncirculated condition.

Q) My son, who is a college student, will probably earn over $650 during summer vacation. Does this mean that I can't claim him as an exemption this year?

A) Not necessarily. If your son is a full-time student during some part of each of five months of the year, the gross income test does not apply. If you contribute more than one-half of your son's total support for the year and if the other dependency tests are met, you may claim him as a dependent even though he has income of $650 or more during the year.

This same rule applies to taxpayers' children who are under 19 at the end of the year.

NEA Backing Off From Jordan King Sees Plot to Split Nation

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
AP Education Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — National Education Association leaders are trying to temper

the organization's stand against federal aid to private schools, contending opposition has neutralized NEA influence with Congress.

The leadership is offering a compromise to put the 1.1-million-member teacher group on record against any new federal aid to private schools—a move with the effect of withdrawing NEA opposition to existing aid programs.

At stake is active NEA participation in a public-private lobbying coalition that worked successfully last year for congressional approval of an extra $1.2 billion following presidential veto of two education appropriations.

When the Emergency Committee for Full Funding of Education Programs won that lobbying job, NEA was an active participant. The delegates called for ending federal aid to church-related and other private schools, putting the NEA in opposition to the lobbying coalitions goals.

NEA leaders say effects of that action was seen last April when the House, in a 191-187 vote, defeated a $782.6-million addition to the education appropriation bill for a dozen programs.

"We believe that if we could have been active, our influence might have made the difference," added NEA President Helen Bain.

The Elementary-Secondary

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — King Hussein charged today that Arab guerrilla leaders are plotting to set up a breakaway Palestinian state in Jordan and vowed to launch a "final crack-down" against them.

Hussein ordered Prime Minister Wasfi Tell to take "bold, decisive and tough action against the handful of professional criminals and conspirators who use the commando movement to disguise their reasonable plots."

School Act of 1965, authorizing federal aid to private schools in such categories as library services and remedial training, was passed with NEA support.

Mrs. Bain is confident her effort to amend the aid resolution will be successful. "I'm getting wonderful response," she said.

She is urging state teacher groups to endorse the compromise proposal that would pave the way for NEA to rejoin the Emergency Committee.

The aid issue will come up again when the 7,000 delegates to the NEA representative Assembly convene in Detroit June 26-July 2.

But one NEA executive who refused use of his name said, "Look for the big states in financial trouble to support the resolution" as approved last year. He said a recent poll showed teachers strongly against use of public money in private schools.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In a book store of any major city, the following dialogue might occur:

"Mr. Tryon, could I have your autograph?"

"Sure, you bet—if you buy a book."

Novelist Thomas Tryon, also known as actor Tom Tryon, has been criss-crossing the country in the former guise, selling his new book, "The Other."

"I'm absolutely shameless," he admits, "I'll walk into a book store and ask if they have 'The Other.' If the answer is no, I whip out my reviews and tell them how they can order it. 'If people want autographs in stores, I'll give them—on the book, that is. I sold 400 copies in one store on an autographing party.'"

The muscular actor-author is enjoying the euphoria of a well-received first novel.

"The Other" went into a second printing before publication, and 20th Century-Fox bought the screen rights. The movie writer: Tom—Sorry, Thomas Tryon.

As to his acting career: "Let it wait, baby—I could care less."

Tryon came to his literary success by a curious route. His only exposure to literature was an English novel course at Yale which he suspects was designed to turn students off—"typical of the caliber of education at Yale."

His rugged good looks helped him carve out a successful career as an actor in television and films, his most noted role being the lead in "The Cardinal."

"I suppose I should say I loved doing 'The Cardinal,'" he remarks, "but I didn't." In fact, most of his performances gave him little pleasure, with the exception of a Disney film, "Moon Pilot," one of his few chances to perform comedy.

Three years ago, Tryon was finishing a Universal TV show with Shelley Winters when he learned by chance that he was scheduled to start a movie the following week. Puzzled, he asked for a script, hated it, and asked to be relieved. The studio refused.

When he reported for his usual preproduction physical required for insurance purposes, the doctor detected a lung infection which precluded the film. "The studio thought I was malingering," said Tryon. The picture was made and was so bad it was never released.

"ALL'S FAIR IN LOVE" — CAUSES WAR

Dear Helen: My best girl friend was making points with Bill, though they hadn't dated yet. At first Bill and I were just good friends, but the more the three of us were together, the harder it was to stay that way.

I mean Bill and I started liking each other a lot and pretty soon it was Jane who became the third party. I didn't plan it that way. I tried not to let it happen. (Bill says he never would have dated her.)

Last week I started going with Bill and now Jane will hardly speak to me. Should I give up a guy I think I'm in love with to keep a girl friend I've known for six years? — CONFUSED

Dear Con: Stay with Bill. As soon as Jane finds a new guy, she'll thaw. Perhaps before, if you get together for a good talk and cry session. —H

Dear Helen: I guess I'm fairly nice looking. At least I was named as one of the princesses for our forthcoming Labor Day Festival.

But Helen, I'm six feet tall!

We have to get an escort to appear with us at the dances and in the parade. But you know how boys are. They horse around with me and are good friends, but what guy would date a "giant"? I'm afraid to ask anyone because I know he'd be embarrassed. I'd just die if several fellas turned me down—especially Jake who is six feet three and just wonderful but shy, though we kid each other a lot.

Should I play it safe and ask my skungy cousin? He isn't much, but he's eager, being the type who likes to brag he was in "the Queen's party." —NADINE

Dear Nadine: Ask "Tall, Shy and Wonderful" first. One turn-down shouldn't crush you. (My IGAP says it won't be a turn-down. Let me know if I'm right.) —H

Dear Helen: I used to fight back and get into all kinds of trouble with my parents when they started with the lectures.

Nowadays I just start humming a tune. You'd think they'd be glad I'm not losing my temper, but no! My mother gets so mad she stutters and my dad would kick the dog except he moves too fast. Crazy, isn't it? —PASSIVE RESISTANCE

Dear P.R.: And you enjoy every minute of it, don't you?

How to drive parents crazy in one easy lesson! Instead, wouldn't it be great if you ALL sat down and learned how to talk to one another? —H

Decorated But Despises War, Army

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A former draft resister who received the nation's second-highest award for bravery says if he had it to do over again he'd go to jail rather than serve in the Army.

Nicholas W. Schoch, his brown hair flowing over his neck, stood at attention at the Army's San Francisco Presidio as Maj. Gen. O. A. Leary pinned the Distinguished Service Cross on his civilian coat pocket at a parade Tuesday.

Schoch, a 23-year-old native of Oakville in the nearby Napa Valley wine region, had accepted induction as a conscientious objector and served as a medic with a rifle company of the 101st Airborne Division in Vietnam. He distinguished himself at the battle for Hamburger Hill in May 1969.

"If I originally had the knowledge of what war, what the Army is like, I would not have gone in," he said in an interview.

He said he would have gone to jail if he had decided to continue resisting the draft.

"I still have some pretty intense objections to the Army. But the award is meaningful because it was originated by the people there on Hamburger Hill who thought that I was doing something meaningful."

The 10-day battle for the hill was criticized as senseless by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

More than 50 American paratroopers died and 400 others were wounded and an estimated 600 North Vietnamese killed.

Schoch was cited for saving nine wounded Americans under intense fire, one of them an unconscious crewman be pulled from a flaming helicopter.

He is now active in draft counseling at the University of Redlands in San Bernardino, Calif., where he is a student. He said he is trying to help change draft laws "so a person can have a free choice on what he wishes to do with his life."
